

Clarification

The bottom paragraph on page 135 of the paper by Agarwal et al., entitled "New Scalar and Vector Elementary Functions for the IBM System/370," which appeared in Vol. 30, No. 2, on pages 126-144, may be open to misinterpretation. In clarification, the authors first heard of Gal's Accurate Table Method in May 1983, when they were given an internal version of Reference 20. Also, the authors have tried to substantiate the written form of Miller's work (Reference 21) and now believe that a written form does not exist.
